

LMRA vs SRA
7th – 8th October, 2006 Match Report

The 17th Annual London and Middlesex Rifle Association vs the Scottish Rifle Association is a match that will be remembered as a fun, competitive and highly successful weekend. Our hosts, captained by Duncan Bedding (note the shorts!), organised a match with a challenging course of fire, a highly enjoyable meal and amazing (if fairly breezy) weather. After our finale, a 2 & 15 at 1000 yards, Scotland came out winners by 4,575 and 395 V bulls to the LMRA 4,528 and 403 V bulls out of a possible 4,800 and 960 V bulls.

Particularly pleasing for the SRA was the turnout: 28 Scots were involved in the match across the weekend with a mix of ages: half the team was made up of firers aged under 25. Aided by a large contingent from Dollar Academy, the majority of firers were home Scots. The Blair Atholl tourist board trophy for the furthest traveller went to Ally Webster from Aberdeen.

The match was highly competitive with a “best 12” counting at each range. This was very positive as any variation in score (or coaching performance) could be ignored and firers simply moved on to the next range. Nearly all Scottish firers had a least one of their scores counting in the match. At the end of the first day Scotland was narrowly ahead by 4 points but behind by 26 V bulls. While Scotland always had the advantage in being able to pick from a bigger pool of scorers, it was strong long range team shooting in tricky conditions, particularly at the crunch distance of 1000 yards, that led to the eventual 47 point margin.

Most notable on a weekend of good scores was Jimmy Lawrie's 225.25 ex 225.45 at short range outscoring all other firers by 4 points and Ally Webster's 167.14 ex 175.25 at Long Range with a range beating 71.4 on the final 1000 yard shoot. Well done to both firers and their coaches. Bruce Roth was the top Scot overall on 386.31 and Duncan Bedding the top LMRA shot on 384.37. Katy Simpson was the top Under 19 Scottish shot on 371.35.

Range by Range Scores

	4,575	395	4,528	403

The above team scores represent a 96.7% short range and 93.4% long range average for Scotland. This didn't quite achieve our target 97.4% short range and 96.7% long range performance targets, however, conditions were tough for our coaches at 500 and 1000 yards and always meant that these were going to be stretch goals.

But more importantly throughout the weekend and at different stages in the match we had other goals for the team to help in the overall development of firers and the team cohesion. Our initial goal was to improve squad integration through:

- Practising Team shooting drills;
- Finessing the interdependent aspects of coached shooting (e.g. rhythm, firing to command and coach/shooter interaction);
- Having Target Captains marshal targets; and
- An overall cross weekend goal of getting to know fellow team members.

Eildh (closest) gets ready to shoot while on the firing point are Trina coaching Bob Allen, Nick and Richard around Craig coaching with Bob Aitken plotting and Rab getting into the aim.

This was definitely achieved with a real sense of purpose evident about the team as it went into its final range with efficient changeovers, strong technique and organisation underpinning the performance. It really showed at what a high standard we can operate at and bodes well from a development perspective for Scottish shooting.

There was a good intermingling of individuals on the firing point and at the evening dinner. While the jury is probably still out on the target captain concept it definitely encouraged individuals to meet new faces and helped in the smooth running of the team.

A second goal was to expand our pool of wind coaches. Under the observation of Allan, Alex and Matt; a range of individuals coached all the firers and received feedback on their performance.

Key to the process was inter-coach communication using the headsets. Fortunately this was not recorded for posterity!

Allan observes Julia coaching Rab while Jim plots. On the next target Henry coaches Dot while Lewis plots. Note the blue sky!

Ron and Bruce add touch and smell to their ammunition batching process.

Our final goal was to rehearse for the European Long Range match which is coming up next week. Certainly the emphasis on Day 2 on Long Range with two shoots at 1000 yards helped in our training. We were able to try out firers slotting in on either side of the coach and our ammo quality control process was well managed and run by Ron and Bruce.

Julia focuses

Henry coaches Craig while Alanna plots.

Overall the weekend, however, was great fun. There was a great spirit across the team underpinned by an enthusiasm to get better and try new things out (see e.g. right). It's this ethos coupled with strong shooting across the team that gives plenty for Scotland to build on in the future.

Our thanks once again go to our hosts the London and Middlesex Rifle Association for looking after us over the weekend and for arranging this excellent competition. We are looking forward to the return match next year.
